TA Loeffler is an adventurer, outdoor educator and author from St. John's, Newfoundland. After summiting Mount McKinley in 2005, she set a goal of climbing the seven summits, the highest peaks on each of the seven continents. Throughout this journey she has aimed to inspire others to have big dreams and big goals by sharing her adventures. Through her experience in both sports and outdoor adventure, TA intimately appreciates teamwork and knows how to bring teams together to accomplish their goals and fulfill their greatest potential.
